Nixon Plan Blocks Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon formally asked Congress today to block temporarily all further pupil-busing orders by the federal courts while it wrestles with long-range proposals to equalize the quality of education in all schools.

In an 8,000-word special message, Nixon recommended that a moratorium on new busing remain in effect until July 1, 1973—or unti' Congress acts on broader legislation at some earlier date.

The chief executive said he was convinced that the Senate and House have the constitutional power, under the 14th Amendment, to call a temporary halt to further court-ordered busing.

In addition to calling for the moratorium, Nixon proposed a new equal educational opportunities law that would channel special federal aid to schools with a large enrollment—over 30 per cent—from poor families.

The amount of aid would total about $2.5 billion and would amount to roughly $300 for each pupil coming from a poor family.

Before sending his message to Capitol Hill, Nixon held an early morning White House conference with the Democratic and Republican leadership of the Senate and House.

The message was a follow-up to a television-radio address Thursday night in which he argued that his proposals "would focus our efforts where they really belong—on better education for all of our children rather than on more busing for some of our children."

In his message to Congress, Nixon argued that his recommendations "would not roll back the Constitution, or undo the great advances that have been made in ending school segregation, or undermine the continuing drive for equal rights."

He said "this administration means what it says about dismantling racial barriers, about opening up jobs and housing and schools and opportunity to all Americans."

In advance of the message, many observers had wondered how Nixon would go about fashioning a busing moratorium without risking successful challenges to his plan in the federal courts.

The President noted that the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, under which school desegregation cases have arisen, specifically empowers Congress "to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article." He went on:

"Until now, enforcement has been left largely to the courts—which have operated within a limited range of available remedies, and in the limited context of case law rather than of statutory law.

"I propose that the Congress now accept the responsibility and use the authority given to it under the 14th Amendment to clear up the confusion which contradictory court orders have created and to establish reasonable national standards."

The proposed equal educational opportunities law would bar any state or locality from denying equal educational opportunity to any person because of race, color or national origin.

It would establish priorities for applying remedies to schools that are required to desegregate, "with busing to be required only as a last resort, and then only under strict limitations."

The legislation also would "provide for the concentration of federal school-aid funds, speest educational need, in a way and in sufficient quantities so they can have a real and substantial impact in terms of improving the education of children from poor families."

As part of the legislation, Nixon would subsidize below-par schools by using $1.5 billion currently available each year under a proviso of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act plus $1 billion under emergency school aid legislation already awaiting action in a Senate-House conference committee. The emergency legislation would expire on June 30, 1974 but Nixon asks that it be continued.

—Assure, as a condition of getting the money, that a district spend on its poorest schools an amount comparable to that allocated for its best.

—Provide a "compensatory education grant" of about $300 for each low-income pupil in schools where they represent at least 30 per cent of the enrollment.

—Require that compensatory grants be spent only on basic instruction in language skills and mathematics and for health and nutrition services.

—Provide a bonus grant to a non-poor school accepting a pupil transferring from a poor school, so long as the transfer student moves to an institution where members of his race are in a minority.

The Nixon "equal opportunities" legislation sets forth a variety of do's and don'ts, specifying that to be eligible for aid a school could not engage in deliberate segregation, discriminate in the hiring of faculty and staff, or approve transfers that purposefully increse segregation.

The legislation would establish priorities for desegregation remedies and prohibit resumption of court-ordered busing only if all other steps were unavailing.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES NATION (UPI TELEPHOTO)

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Fuel Added to Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's request for legislation to halt further busing and upgrade inner-city schools promises to add new fuel to the controversy raging in Congress.

Reactions ranging from angry denunciations of the President by black leaders to warm commendation by busing opponents made it clear Nixon's apparent attempt to find a middle ground has failed to bring the warring factions any closer together.

"In effect he has declared war on the Constitution of the United States," said Henry Marsh III the black vice mayor in Richmond, Va., a focal point in the busing controversy since a federal court ordered widespread busing covering three counties.

"Thank goodness someone has spoken for the children of America, black and white alike," said Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., a leader of antibusing forces in the Senate.

Nixon withheld details of his proposal until today but the outline he gave the nation Thursday night was enough to convince some of those on each side of the issue that it will not provide a solution to the busing problem.

Southerners whose school systems are already busing under court orders found little comfort in Nixon's call for a halt to "new busing."

"What about the old busing?" asked Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La.

To Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the key part of Nixon's plan is his intention to have the Justice Department intervene in the courts in opposition to busing orders Nixon considers have gone too far.

"Mr. Nixon has boldly announced he will use the full power of the Justice Department to deny black children fair hearings and long-overdue remedies in the federal courts," said Mitchell. "This is a stunning example of government sanctioning hysteria and chaos."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan praised Nixon's approach, as did Rep. Norman F. Lent, R-N.Y., sponsor of a constitutional amendment designed to halt busing. Lent and other supporters of the amendment had hoped Nixon would endorse it but the President said it would take too long to go into effect.

Only one of the Democratic contenders for the White House, Sen. George McGovern, came forward Thursday night with a comment on Nixon's speech. He called it a "complete collapse of moral and political leadership by the President of the United States."

"Doubtless it will appeal to many frightened people," McGovern said, "but they ought to understand it for what it is—a backdoor sneak attack on the Constitution of this country."

Similar criticism came from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who said Nixon "seems to think it is more important to seek political gain than it is to show political leadership."

City to Appeal March 31 Deadline

$125,000 Set for Rec Center

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Department of Housing and Urban Development, which has already spent $193,000 on the Rondout Neighborhood Center, has another $125,000 waiting for the city. There's only one catch: the city has to formally apply for the money before March 31.

Applying for federal Neighborhood Facility Grants is time consuming. A municipality has to submit with the request for money a detailed study of the neighborhood with documented information on population, racial breakdown, income and housing.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig sees little chance of completing the voluminous report before March 31 and has asked HUD for a month's extension. In the meantime, he will put the city's planning consultants, Raymond, Parish and Pine, to work on the application.

Phase II of the Rondout Neighborhood Center has been budgeted at $187,000 of which the federal government has committed $124,666, leaving the city's share at $62,333. The deadline for funding is March 31 and as things now stand if the city does not submit by then it could lose its priority standing. It could take years for federal funds to come through with a resulting rise in construction costs that would in all likelihood make construction of Phase II possible.

Original plans, submitted to HUD in mid-1966 and approved, called for the expenditure of some $365,000 for the construction of the entire project. Under those plans, the federal government had budgeted $193,000, the city $96,000 and the Kingston Housing Authority $75,000 for offices in the building. Bids were opened in October of 1968, coming in at $429,000. The housing authority pulled its $75,000 out of the project shortly after and nothing was done on it until Koenig took office in January of 1970.

Due to budgetary limitations, it was decided to build the neighborhood center in two phases, with meeting rooms for senior citizens, teenagers, the Rondout Community Action Committee and the Recreation Commission, built first and the gymnasium built second. Phase I cost $290,268.

Koenig was under the impression that neighborhood studies used in the original application in 1966 could be used for Phase II, the gymnasium and its supporting facilities which will be built atop Phase I. The federal government ruled against that, however, stating that the neighborhood had undergone considerable change since 1966 and that a new study was warranted.

Plans for Phase II calls for an 85 by 50-foot basketball court with boys' and girls' locker and shower rooms and some office space. Indications are that the $187,000 allotted for the project will be short by some $30,000 to $40,000.

If plans are carried out for the construction of other new gymnasium, the old city recreation center, just down the street at 97 Broadway, will be closed. Koenig said that the city is currently operating two buildings and if the old recreation center is closed it would save on operational costs.

If Phase II can be brought in for the budgeted $187,000, it would bring the total cost of the building to $477,000. The building could have been built in 1968 for $429,000.

Utility Guidelines Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission today announced new, sharpened guidelines for utility rates but warned the nation that big increases will be necessary to pay for the service it wants.

The regulations put limits on the rate of return that utilities may realize from increased rates, and added provisions requiring them to take into account increased productivity and to absorb labor costs that increase more than 5.5 per cent.

Also, the commission made provisions to hand over final authority on utility rate increases to existing regulatory bodies that come up with acceptable anti-inflationary policies.

Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the regulations would require reductions in some requested rate increases but not in others. He had no estimate of how much utility rates might go up under the new rules.

But he warned, "We urge the consumers of the nation to realize that when you demand service, you have to pay for it. You don't get something for nothing."

He said that four days of public hearings on utility rates made it clear that some large increases are going to be necessary in order to continue "adequate, safe and pollution-free services."

In Wake of Pay Board Wage Trim

Dockworkers Strike Looms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A shutdown of all U.S. ports loomed as a possibility today after the Pay Board trimmed a wage increase won by West Coast longshoremen in ending a 134-day dock strike.

There was no immediate comment from Harry Bridges' West Coast International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Thursday after the Pay Board in Washington lopped about one-fourth of the ILWU's negotiated increases.

Nor was there comment from Bridges' East and Gulf Coast counterpart, President Thomas W. Gleason of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Union.

But Bridges told his 13,000-member union on Feb. 24 that the ILWU and the ILA had agreed that they would join in a nationwide dock strike if the Pay Board touched wage increases won by either union.

The Feb. 16 contract between the ILWU and the West Coast employers' Pacific Maritime Association contains language which permits the ILWU to take strike action within 30 days if the Pay Board refuses approval of the contract.

The Pay Board's staff reported that West Coast stevedoring firms had saved some $1 billion in reduced labor costs through increased productivity since the union agreed to new work rules in 1960.

Nevertheless, business and public members of the Pay Board outvoted labor members 8 to 5 in rejecting the new ILWU-PMA contract as inflationary.

The Pay Board said the new ILWU contract provides for a 16 per cent increase in wages and overtime and a 4.9 per cent increase in employer-funded pension and welfare benefits during the first year of the new 18-month pact.

It voted 8 to 6 to approve only a 10 per cent increase in wages and to allow the 4.9 per cent increase in fringe benefits to stand. The 14.9 per cent total is still higher than the 8.9 per cent called for in the board's standard guidelines.

"The extra allowances were made in recognition of the necessity of producing the income and retirement security which has helped to foster efficient industry production leading to significantly greater output with a continuously declining work force," Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt said in announcing the decision.

Under the pay provisions of the pact, the West Coast dock workers were to receive a 72-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive to Dec. 25, to bring the hourly scale to $5. An additional 40 cents an hour was due July 1.

BROADWAY BLOCKED—Traffic on Broadway was rerouted more than two hours Thursday after a tractor-trailer overturned and hit a lumber truck 200 feet south of Stuyvesant Street. F. J. Osterhoudt, 26, of Poughkeepsie, operator of a southbound truck escaped injury when the load shifted and the truck tipped over, spilling a load of televisions, canned oil and other freight. As the truck upset it hit a northbound tractor-trailer driven by Herbert D. Winn, 48, of Hughsonville. Traffic was detoured by police from 10:20 a.m. to 12:40 p.m. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Charities Appeal Seminar Set

KINGSTON — Objectives of the 1972 Catholic Charities and Education Appeal will be discussed at a seminar at 11 a. m. March 25 at John A. Coleman High School, Kingston, it was announced by Msgr. John J. Barry, Appeal coordinator.

Among the goals of the workshop for Ulster and Sullivan County clergy and laymen is the recruitment of volunteers who will visit fellow parishioners from the 31 Roman Catholic churches of the two counties on behalf of the Appeal which opens April 30. The seminar is one of eight planned throughout the Archdiocese during the month of March.

Participants will include Appeal Chairman Bishop Edward D. Head, Catholic Charities executive director; and Vice Chairman Msgr. Joseph T. O'Keefe, Archdiocesan secretary for education.

This year's appeal, based on the theme "For One Another—Build Better Communities," seeks to mount a ten-point roster of comprehensive health, education and welfare programs at the neighborhood level.

Council Laws and Rules Committee

New Zoning Map, But Old Issue

KINGSTON — The Laws and Rules Committee unveiled the new city zoning map Thursday night, but an old issue, fencing of above ground swimming pools, could delay passage for another two months.

The Laws and Rules Committee, headed by Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), has expressed itself on the fencing regulation before. Two years ago, the committee unanimously rejected the proposal. "We feel it would cause a hardship on the average guy who buys one of those small portable swimming pools for his backyard," Quick said. "The swimming pool might cost only $20 but he'd have to pay another hundred to put the fence around it."

Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe has been seeking Council approval of a law on portable swimming pools that exceed 24 inches in depth and 120 square feet, requiring a four-foot fence. Radcliffe cites the safety factor.

Quick said today that if the swimming pool requirement is included in the zoning update, "the whole thing could be defeated."

The state approved $10,000 for zoning study in December of 1970. The city's share is $1,600.

Other new proposals in the zoning update met with almost no opposition. One calls for the creation of a new zoning classification, Neighborhood Business (NB) which would allow gas stations, beauty shops, barberships and grocery stores in residential neighborhoods.

"Cluster homes" was another proposal which would allow multiple housing in residential areas but would be strictly controlled by the Common Council. A developer would be allowed to construct "cluster homes" but would be limited to the number of units of single family units on that size acreage.

The so-called Stockade Ordinance, in Council committee for several years, has not been included in the overall zoning update, Quick said. It is anticipated that the Council will pass that ordinance separately as a local law and that after passage it will be included in the zoning map. The Stockade Ordinance proposes to establish an historic area in the uptown section of Kingston.

Quick, in explaining the need for a zoning update pointed out that there has been 40 amendments to the 1963 zoning law under which the city now operates. "It's been almost ten years since we passed that law," Quick said. "Good planning dictate that you should update it every five years."

Further meetings between the Laws and Rules Committee and the Council on the zoning update are planned later this month.

Speaker Listed for Fish Fete

KINGSTON — Russell Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality will be the main speaker at the testimonial dinner for Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. to be held at the Nevele Country, Sunday, Mar. 19, according to Charles Andola, dinner chairman. Fish has announced his candidacy from New York's 25th Congressional District.

In addition to Train, a number of Congressman Fish's colleagues from the House and Senate will also be present at the dinner including Connecticut Senator Lowell Weicker, and Representatives Howard Robison, Peter Peyser, James F. Hastings, John H. Terry, all of New York, Lawrence Coughlin, Pennsylvania, Stewart McKinney, of Connecticut and Lou Frey of Florida. Robison is the GOP candidate for Congress in Ulster's new 27th Congressional District.

Also attending will be Republican state chairman, Charles Lanigan, and a group from New York State including Henry L. Diamond, commissioner of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

"We are planning a generally informal evening where Ham's friends can get together for what we believe will be a memorable party," Andola said.

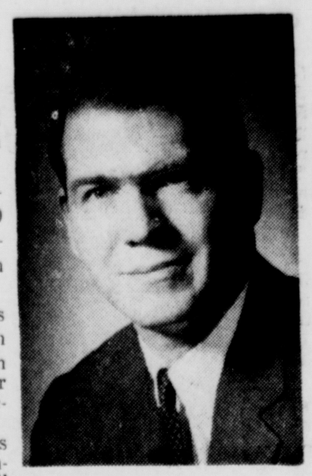

Seating arrangements are being planned so that an effort will be made to have Washington officials seated with the other guests rather than all sitting at one head table.

"We are doing this so that everyone will have an opportunity to actually sit and visit through dinner with the various officials and representatives, rather than have them all sitting at a head table visiting with each other," Andola said.

The latest ticket count indicates that between 450 and 500 people from the 28th Congressional District are planning on attending.

"We have had acceptances from every part of the 28th Congressional District, with people coming from as far away as Canajoharie and Oneonta," Andola said.

He also indicated delegations from Southern Dutchess County and Westchester County will attend.

Kingston's Seven Living Mayors Invited to Centennial Luncheon

KINGSTON — The seven living mayors of the city of Kingston have been invited as guests of honor at a luncheon marking the city's 100th anniversary, at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, March 29.

The luncheon is being sponsored by the Kingston Rotary Club. Guests include members of the Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission, Friends of Historic Kingston, the 13 members of the Common Council, the alderman-at-large, and all service clubs in the city.

Five of the seven mayors will be in attendance, inluding the present chief executive, Francis R. Koenig, who took office on Jan. 1, 1970. Ex-mayors include Raymond W. Garraghan ((1966-69), John J. Schwenk (1962-65), Edwin F. Radel (1958-61), Oscar V. Newkirk (1948-53), William F. Edelmuth (1942-47) and Conrad J. Heiselman (1934-41). Heiselman and Edelmuth, both in Florida, will be unable to attend.

"These mayors have been Kingston's first citizens for a period of almost 40 years," City Historian Harry Rigby said. "They are greatly responsible or the growth and prosperity experienced since 1972."

Kingston was incorporated by an act of the State Legislature on March 29, 1872, formed by the merger of the villages of Kingston and Rondout and the unincorporated village of Wilbur.

Each mayor will be introduced the honored and will briefly share his memories of the highlights of his term of office. Arrangements are under the direction of Rigby and Mrs. Walter Donnaruma, Mayor Koenig's representative to the Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission.

Reduction in UDC Units

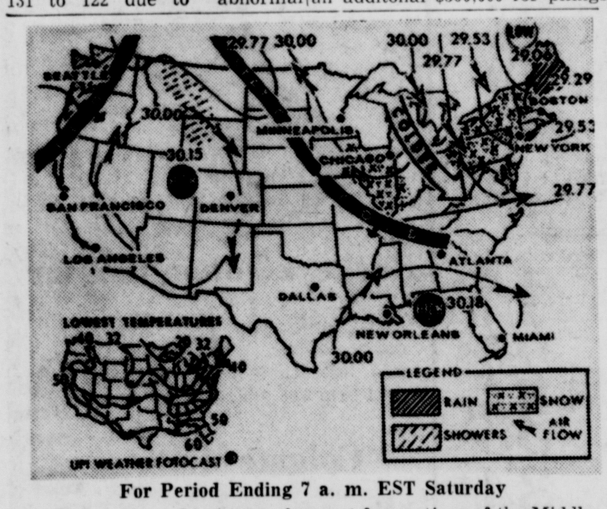

KINGSTON — The number of units in the Urban Development Corporation's Broadway East project has been reduced from 131 to 122 due to "abnormal site conditions and rising construction costs," according to the Kingston Citizen's Advisory Committee.

Last year, UDC had to expend an additonal $300,000 for pilings due to similiar conditions. According to the Rev. John H. Gilmore, chairman of the Kingston Citizens Advisory Committee (on the UDC project), nine units will be eliminated that would have been built against the hill facing Broadway near Styvestant Street.

Construction will resume on March 27 after a winter layoff with UDC aiming for partial occupancy by the fall of this year.

Eligibility guidelines for the low and moderate income housing are being developed and will be available this summer, the Rev. Mr. Gilmore said. Other members of the committee include Alexander Yosman, former director of the Kingston Housing Authority, James Norton, president of the Rondout Savings Bank, Len Cane, director of the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce and Martin Oberkirch.

It was also announced that the Mid-Hudson office of UDC will be moved to Kingston, at 59 Albany Avenue, on Monday. Herbert Morris is executive director for the Mid-Hudson region.

Man Arrested, Check Charge

ROSENDALE

William J. Metzger, 39, of Main Street, this village, was arrested Thursday by deputy sheriffs on a warrant issued by Marbletown Justice Robert Diamond, accusing the man of issuing a fraudulent check.

Deputy Walter T. Baschnagel, assisted by First Sergeant Donald Policastro, who made the arrest, arraigned Metzger before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf Baumgarten, who fixed bail at $100 and adjourned the case until tonight before Justice Diamond.

Metzger is specifically accused of issuing a check for more than $40 at the Stone Ridge Liquor Store operated by Earl Osterhoudt, who made the complaint.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband and my devoted dad, Freddie Stohr, who passed away March 17, 1969.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who was here,
Who, gone away, is just as dear.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Jeffe B. Chambers Jr., on his 30th birthday March 17.

We miss you son and brother
More than anyone knows
As each day dawns
The emptiness grows
The tears in our eyes
We can wipe away
But the ache in our hearts
Will always stay
The parting was sudden
We often wonder why
But the hardest of all
We never said goodbye.

Cairo Newspaper Editor Labels Hussein Plan Conspiracy

By United Press International

A close confidant of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said today that King Hussein's plan for a semiautonomous Palestinian state is "a minefield from beginning to end" and a plot of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, the influential editor of the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram, said in his weekly article in the newspaper that 1972 will be a "year of conspiracies" and the first example is Hussein's plan, announced by the Jordanian king Wednesday.

"An instance of what this year will bring is King Hussein's plan, which is a mine field from beginning to end," Heikal said. "Behind this plan is the American Central Intelligence Agency, which played a principal role in the contacts between Hussein and the Israelis and the American State Department."

He added that Sadat, during a visit to the Soviet Union last month, sought guarantees that Russia would provide Egypt with enough arms to keep it on a military parity with Israel. He did not say if the Kremlin agreed to the request, but political sources said the fact that he published the information indicated that such a guarantee was given.

Heikal's remarks were an indication of the widespread Arab hostility Hussein has received with his plan, which called for a federal Jordanian state that would involve two semi-autonomous states. One would be what is now Jordan east of the Jordan River, while the other would include the area on the west bank of the Jordan — an area taken by Israel during the 1967 war and still held by them. Jerusalem would be the capital of the west bank state.

Israel categorically rejected the idea, which would involve its withdrawal from the area.

Three leftist Arab states — Iraq, Algeria and Southern Yemen — and the Palestinian guerrillas also have rejected the plan.

Ulster Burglary Being Probed

TOWN OF ULSTER

A burglary at Fatum's Trailer Sales Inc., 620 Ulster Avenue Mall, was discovered early today by Deputy Sheriffs Angel Baez and Frank Calnan who were on routine patrol checking business establishments in the area.

Entry was gained by smashing a window.

Frank Fatum, owner of the business said a minibike valued at $330 belonging to a customer who had left it for repairs, was stolen. A new minibike valued at $240 was removed from the building but that was found outside.

Investigator Harold T. Bowers is investigating.

Three Friends Share $50,000 From Lottery

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Three friends who each spend a dollar a week on lottery tickets that are pooled reaped a $50,000 reward Thursday from their arrangement.

Robert Wheeler, principal of George Washington elementary school, learned he held number 112807, winner of this week's top prize in the New York State lottery.

Wheeler said the prize would be shared with his ticket partners, Richard Peterson, a state trooper, and Neil Drew, recently laid off by the Remington Rand Corp.

What did Wheeler plan to do with his share?

The same as everyone else," he replied. "Pay bills."

The Beginning

The two men who are going to carry on "the spirit of the long march"—U.S. Ambassador Arthur K. Watson and Chinese Ambassador Huang Chen—had a "warm and cordial" 50 minute meeting in China's embassy in Paris. A first get-acquainted meeting, the American businessman turned envoy and the Chinese soldier diplomat laid the groundwork for extending communication established by President Nixon with Premier Chou En-lai in Peking.

The doors of the Chinese embassy were wide open for both the Ambassador and the news corps, which gathered quickly when the word got out. It was like being back in Peking for the newsmen, who were treated to fruit juice, mineral water and Chinese cigarettes on the ground floor by smiling embassy aides while the two ambassadors had tea and cake upstairs.

In the way of diplomacy, this was a courtesy call by Watson which no doubt will be returned soon by Chen. It was another step toward normalization of relations between the two countries. It would not have been possible even a month ago.

This Watson-Chen meeting may be called the beginning of defacto relations between the United States and China, short of formal diplomatic relations. It starts continuous business-like discussions of matters of mutual interest in Peking—contacts in the fields of science, technology, culture, sports, journalism and trade—and who knows, anything else their governments may suggest.

Peacemaker's Death

"I die to emphasize to you and all minority people who even dream to be free that it can only come through working together. It seems that there is no other way for me to get your attention."

Paul L. Cabell Jr., 26, a black assistant principal at racially troubled Beecher High School in Flint, Michigan, was charged with responsibility for discipline at the school with its enrollment of 1,000—65 per cent white, 35 per cent black.

Proud of his blackness, convinced of his need to be just, weary of his inability to reach the hotheads of both sides, and distressed by the apathy of those in the middle, Cabell took the terrible way out. He took his own life in the hope that his sacrifice would accomplish what in life he had failed to do.

His legacy to his students is worth repeating in the hope that it will move students of racially mixed schools everywhere to heed his counsel for their own good. A leader who realized he "cannot march alone," he wrote:

"To all those black students who worked hard at bringing sense to the errant and foolish brothers and sisters at Beecher, thanks for your efforts—I appreciated them.

"To the white student body, I commend you for keeping your cool as long as you did. Tolerance and patience be yours for ever.

"To the vast majority of blacks who did not take a stand but let the words of a few hotheads and several others turn your mind away from what it is all about—I say it is for you I die."

Blacks and whites alike can ill afford such a peacemaker's loss.

Environmentalists Hurting Pork

WASHINGTON — A few disgruntled congressmen, guardians of the prized pork barrel, held a secret grump session the other day.

Attending were congressmen who, in public, pay lip service to the environmental movement. But in secret, they complained bitterly about its impact on their pet public works projects.

They were particularly incensed over lawsuits that are holding up construction. At one point, Rep. Bob Jones, D-Ala., denounced federal judges as a 'bunch of ignoramusses." And Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., thinking no doubt his secret views would never get out to his fishermen constituents, blurted: "The hell with the fish!"

Nothing is dearer to the hearts of congressmen than federal projects, known in political parlance as pork." Most of the pork is dished out by the House Public Works Committee, whose members are upset over the environmental restraints upon their projects.

They gathered behind closed doors to discuss their grievances. Appropriately, they met beneath a portrait of their former chairman, Rep. Charles "The Boss" Buckley, D-N. Y., who once exulted that he was getting his share of the public pork.

We have now obtained a 56-page transcript of the secret proceedings. As acting chairman, Jones complained about "these insipid and multitudinous suits filed in these courts . . ."

Attack on Judges

"These judges relish the opportunity," he groused, to stop construction of pork-barrel projects. Injunctions "are being maliciously used to hald the projects that Congress has worked for years and years and years to accomplish."

He added sourly that you have a bunch of ignoramusses who are judges who are not respecting what has been done here."

Agreeing, Rep. Bill Harsha, R-Ohio, also lambasted "Mr. Nader and his group that has us tied up in court." He referred to the delay of pet projects while the federal government makes sure they won't harm the environment.

Representative Pat Caffery, D-La., a spokesman for Big Oil, complained that the federal environmental protection laws had held up plans to lease oil and gas lands off the Louisiana coast.

"All of a sudden at the 11th hour," he whined, "the court grants . . . an injunction . . . blocking these lease sales." He didn't mention that the court acted to prevent a disastrous oil spill such as the one that fouled the California coast.

Representative Roger Zion, R-Ind., chimed in to call the present conservation laws "ridiculous and silly."

Then Jim Wright, white teeth flashing, began to assault the environmental acts. Dams and buildings had been "brought to a screeching halt," he snorted, while the federal government weighed the effects on the environment.

"That is just a monstrous thing," he huffed. He was willing to see people protected by the laws, he said, but "the hell with the fish."

He proclaimed that he wanted "to find something that will shortstop all of these little pestiferous suits that are hamstringing the programs."

Weakening the Laws

As one member after another stood up for pollution, slow-witted Rep. Jim Kee, D-W.Va., tried to understand what the discussion was all about. "Under what authority or pecking order," he asked, "does the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) have the right to . . . hold up actions? We are the ones who are elected by the people."

Committee staff members patiently explained to Kee that public projects were held up under laws already on the books. But committee cousel Richard Sullivan urged that the laws should be revised to circumvent the tough environmental impact statements now required before a project can be started.

The committee immediately hammered out a bill that would permit EPA to give some of its powers to the states, which are more vulnerable to the pressure of the big polluters.

Footnote: During a lull in the secret discussion, Harsha asked Caffery: "What does the gentleman contemplate doing in November? "Well," drawled the congressman from Louisiana, "I may run for the city limits." When his constituents discover he has sold them out to the oil and gas interests, this may be prophetic.

Cash Guarantee

International Telephone and Telegraph has insisted that its $400,000 pledge to the Republican convention was merely a routine contribution that hotels normally offer to bring conventions to town.

It is quite true that hotels pony up cash to attract convention business. But the largest hotel chain in the San Diego area contributed only $24,000 toward the GOP Convention. ITT owns the Sheraton chain, the second largest in the area. Its minimum commitment would have been less than $24,000.

Instead of that, ITT wrote a check for $100,000 and offered to make good another $300,00 if the conference bureau failed to raise the cash from other sources. In other words, ITT guaranteed up to $400,00 of the $600,000 total that the conference bureau promised in cash to the Republican Party for bringing the conference to San Diego.

Now, giant conglomerates don't commit $400,000 out of the goodness of their hearts. ITT expected a return on its investment. What the conglomerate wanted most of all was to stop an anti-trust suit intended to strip ITT of its prize subsidiary, Hartford Fire Insuarcne.

Exactly eight days after ITT pledged $400,000 to subsidze the Republican National Convention, the anti-trust suit was dropped. No amount of wool gathering in the Senate hearing is going to cover up these basic facts.

David Lawrence Says

Anti-Busing Vote

WASHINGTON — Congress is somewhat stunned by the outcome of the Florida primary — not because George Wallace of Alabama got such a high percentage of the vote in the Democratic party but because of the extensive anti-busing sentiment that was revealed in a statewide referendum on the subject.

Governor Wallace was outspoken on the issue and led all the Democratic contenders with 42 per cent of the vote, while Senator Humphrey of Minnesota was second with 18 per cent, and Senator Jackson was third with 13 per cent. The surprise was that Senator Muskie of Maine got only 9 per cent. Other candidates — Mayor Lindsay, Senator McGovern, Representative Chisholm and Senator McCarthy — each received less than 8 per cent.

On the Republican side, President Nixon got 87 per cent of the vote, Representative McCloskey 4 per cent.

There is no doubt that Governor Wallace spoke a good deal against busing to gather votes in large numbers, and he actually wound up with approximately 516,000 out of a total of about 1,425,000 ballots cast. The republican vote was small — only around 410,000 — as it doubtless was taken for granted by many voters that Mr. Nixon would win approval.

The talk today, however, is not so much about who won the primary as about the full impact of the Florida contest on the rest of the country. The straw" ballot in Florida Tuesday showed the voters overwhelmingly in favor of a Constitutional amendment to ban forced busing and even more strongly endorsing equal opportunity for quality education for all children regardless of race.

Members of Congress recognize that the busing issue has aroused the people. Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, has called on President Nixon to expedite his report on the busing question. The President has been working on his policy statement for some time but its publication was deferred until after the Florida primary. Senator Mansfield says that the President should take leadership in this most perplexing and troublesome issue that faces the nation today." The Senate Leader points out that a Constitutional amendment would not be an immediate solution because of the time it would take for enactment and might delay action on a problem that must be faced up to now."

In a sense, the Florida voters have said that, while they are against enforced busing to correct "racial imbalance," they recognize that not all schools provide a quality education and that transferring students from one district to another often attains the objective of better education.

It was not surprising that the administration sought to eliminate the whole question of busing and concentrated on supplying funds to the states to improve education, particularly in the city schools, so that the same quality would be available as in the suburbs or other areas. It is a matter, therefore, of devoting money to better schools rather than to transportation.

In the North the situation needs attention, too. There are some city schools which will require betterment of facilities as well as more educational aids. If the whole controversy could be focused on the ways of dealing with the quality of education, large-scale busing in any section of the country would cease to be a problem.

Governor Wallace's victory in Florida was not unexpected, but the Democratic party, with its big number of candidates, has by no means yet decided who its nominee will be. The selection of delegates in the primaries in 23 states is bound to change the nature of the national convention in July, because the method of choosing delegates has been altered, and the voters have an opportunity to pick more of them. These are not controlled so much by the political organizations. The party, however, doesn't give the appearance of solidarity. While Governor Wallace won in the Florida primary, this is no sign that the states in the North and West will also pick him.

Certainly the primaries outside the south will be awaited with much interest here to see what the reaction of the Democratic party is to the idea of selecting Governor Wallace as the nominee. There is much more talk about Senator Humphrey getting support in the North and possibly winning the nomination.

'Hostile' Press Out at White House

The 1972 Presidential campaign is six months off. It is customary for the contenders to arrange network televised speeches shortly after Labor Day. The pace is slow, the contender always more industrious than the incumbent, and it quickens through October, closing in a frenzy of crude gutter politics the first week of November.

It would appear to the observer that Mr. Nixon's bid for a second term is going to have to overcome a handicap he fashioned— the distrust of the press. Looking all the way back to when he ran for the U.S. Senate, citing actress Helen Gahagan Douglas' left-wing voting ecord in Congress, he has never been able to face the give-and-take of an open press conference.

He wants the press. He needs it. But he alienates it consciously. This is the man who, when he lost to Governor "Pat" Brown in California in 1962, stormed into a hotel corridor and snarled: "You won't have Nixon to kick around any more!" He is the kind of man political reporters, regardless of party affiliations, like to entrap and expose because he is sly, secretive and suspicious.

The Fourth Estate, which counted itself sufficiently powerful collectively to draw any President out of hiding, found its match in this one. In the 1968 campaign, he ignored the customary open conferences at which journalists are permitted to quote something that his adversary charged yesterday and ask his rebuttal today.

Nixon staged "voter" television conferences in which he lounged at ease on stage. In the audience, selected adherents asked selected questions designed to elicit warm and soothing repsonses from Nixon. The act was as smooth as though it had been rehearsed.

When he became President, Mr. Nixon found himself with the West Wing of the White House peopled with accredited correspondents whose function was to attend daily press conferences with the Press Secretary, Mr. Ron Ziegler, and, every week or two, to sit in the State Department auditorium and wait for the President of the United States to come onstage and answer questions freely and openly.

No President enjoys these, except Franklin D. Roosevelt, who racked up 998 give-and-take conferences with reporters in his 12 years in the White House. Eisenhower frequently fluffed his lines. When he was asked what his Vice President, Richard M. Nixon, had been doing to help the administration, he said: "Give me a week and I'll think of something."

The press, as both prosecutor and friend of the court, isn't always right. It, too, is sly, secretive and suspicious. But Nixon permitted himself to be so terrified by what they might ask, and what he might reply, that he sent word to the reporters when he returned from Peking that his only statement of the historic voyage would be what he said as he stepped off the plane at Andrews Air Force Base.

Not once, but most of the time, he has ignored the boys with the pencils and paper to make his glassily rationalized statements on television. The newspapers, which deal in detailed news and background stories, are constantly "scooped" by the boob-tube. He preempts regular television shows to get on camera and speak "directly to the people."

Ask your neighbors and you will find out that, even those who vote Republican, are tired of it. James McCartney of the Knight Newspapers wrote an article in which he stated that the last press conference held by Richard Nixon was in the East Room of the White House on June 1, 1971. That's nine months ago.

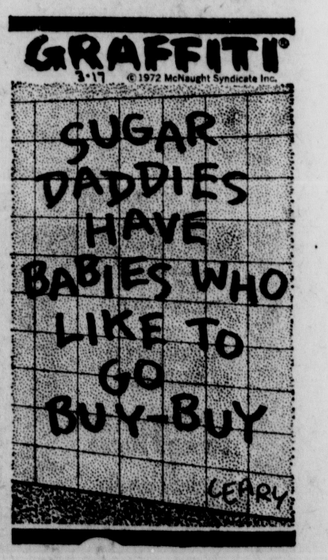

The others have been small, selected groups of reporters who have been asked to the Executive Office for a chat. In these, Mr. Nixon has his own agenda. He knows what he wants to discuss, and he doesn't want any "hostiles" asking incisive questions about inflation and unemployment. There was coffee and clinking of glasses and little bon mots to make it look casual and friendly.

He has robbed himself of the opportunity of accusing the press of bias by ignoring the men who sit and wait for news every day 150 feet from his office. He had four press conferences in 1970: one in 1972 (so far) and 22 in his entire first term.

In September, Nixon is going to seethe when he reads digests of what he has said. He will minimize the hatchet job he did on the press and television through his suppliant Vice President, Spiro Agnew.

He will smile hard, hold both hands up with the fingers in the form of a "V," and he will once more sweat. No matter how the election goes, he will sweat right down to the wire.

The cure for that is a newspaper fanning.

Sprinklers Aid Firemen at Triple-S Store

KINGSTON

Sprinkler systems that activated in the Shop and Save Trading Stamp Corp. (Triple-S) store in the Kingston Shopping Plaza on Thursday averted heavy losses to merchandise and the one-story building.

Engines 1 and 2, Trucks 1 and 2 and Wicks Salvage unit were dispatched to the store on a telephone call received at Central Station at 5:43 p.m. On arrival firemen found the structure heavily charged with smoke.

Engine 2 firemen saw the sprinklers operating in the store on their arrival and they connected two 2½-inch hoselines to the siamese connection outside to provide water for the sprinkler system.

Firemen had to smash the front glass door and remove heavy metal and bars from a rear door to enter the store and locate the fire, which was found in the stock area at the rear. Two 1½-inch pump streams from Engine 1 were used to extinguish the flames.

Officials reported considerable damage to stock in the rear area and to some merchandise on the show floor. Heavy smoke damage was eported throughout the establishement.

The probable cause was careless smoking, fire records noted.

The last piece of apparatus reported back in service at 9:08 p.m.

Acting Fire Chief Robert Maines and Captain Philip Greer were in charge of firefighters at the scene.

Hearing Set On Expansion Of Stewart

POUGHKEEPSIE

Representatives from Governor Rockefeller's office, the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, and local, state and federal legislators have been invited to attend a public hearing Tuesday, March 28, on the proposed expansion of Stewart Airport near Newburgh in Orange County.

Two Killed, Six Hurt in Northern Ireland Mine Blast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) —Two persons died and six were wounded in violent incidents late Thursday night, including three British soldiers injured in a mine explosion.

The deaths of a young woman in a bomb explosion and an unidentified man in a shooting incident brought to 278 the number of victims since violence erupted in Northern Ireland, August, 1969, a British army spokesman said.

The woman was killed when she entered a underground public lavatory in Lurgan and a bomb inside exploded. Her husband waiting for her outside was injured, the spokesman said.

On a deserted street in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne section, a man was found shot dead. His body with a bullet hole in the head was lying outside the church hall, a spokesman said. Security forces had not been in the area all night and no shooting incidents were reported, the spokesman said.

An army spokesman said the three soldiers injured were on mobile patrol near the border with the Irish Republic on the outskirts of Londonderry when their vehicle ran over a mine in the road. One of the soldiers was admitted to a hospital and the other two were released after treatment, he said.

An unidentified man was found shot and wounded in his back garden in South Belfast. He was admitted to a hospital.

An army spokesman said a man was found shot on Woodvale Road late Thursday night. He was admitted to a local hospital with a wound in the side. The area where he was found is predominantly Protestant.

Earlier in the evening British troops engaged five gunmen in a 30-minute gun battle in Belfast.

Security forces Thursday arrested Patrick Kennedy, a Roman Catholic member of Parliament —the first such arrest in Northern Ireland in 15 years. Security sources said Kennedy, 29, was arrested under the special powers act that allows internment without trial.

He was apprehended in the home of an Irish journalist along with William McCory, whom the police identified as the chief of the provisional Irish Republican Army (IRA) forces in the Catholic New Lodge Road district.

Victim of Own Bomb Identified

MILAN, Italy (UPI) —Giangiacomo Feltrinelli, a publisher whose triumphs ranged from "Dr. Zhivago" and "The Leopard" to Fidel Castro's memoirs and Ernesto "Che" Guevara's diary, was identified Thursday as the man who apparently died trying to knock out the power supply to this city of 1.7 million.

Feltrinelli, 45, disappeared in 1969 after police said they wanted to question him about unspecified crimes. It turned out later they wanted to ask him about a series of terrorist bombings.

His mutilated body was found Tuesday at the foot of a huge tower used to relay most of Milan's electrical power. One leg was blown off, there was a deep wound in one side and pieces of bone and skin were blown 50 feet away.

Scattered around his body were 43 sticks of dynamite.

Police said it took them 24 hours to identify the body because the victim was carrying forged identification papers. He apparently was the victim of his own bomb which he planned to use on the tower.

Following Feltrinelli's death, police launched a nationwide crackdown on leftwing extremists and searched scores of homes and offices.

No, Kissing Won't Make You Pregnant

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this is too dumb to answer. Can a girl get pregnant from kissing?

DALLAS

DEAR DALLAS: No. But it's a good beginning.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help me? I am a 13-year-old girl and live with my mother alone. A few years ago my father and my two brothers were killed in a car accident. Since I am the only one my mother has left, she babies me something awful. She won't let me go anywhere without her.

I live only one block from school, but my mother walks me to school every morning. If I have to stay after school, my mother comes to school and stands outside waiting for me. It is so bad, Abby, that I don't have any friends left. My mother doesn't even like for me to call anyone on the phone.

If I complain about the way she babies me, she cries and says I don't love her. I DO love her, Abby, but I would like to have friends and be like other girls. I used to be an A and B student. Now I dropped down to C's and D's.

It's gotten so that my mother wants to comb my hair in the morning. Please, be my friend, and help me.

FALLING APART

DEAR FALLING: Your mother has suffered a terrible loss, and the shock, plus her loneliness has apparently affected her mental well being. She desperately needs someone to tell her troubles to. And she may need medical attention. Tell your school counselor what you've told me. If you have no counselor, confide in your favorite teacher. Or your minister. When your mother gets the help she needs, she will stop babying you, which will solve your problem and your mother's, too. Good luck, Honey.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I was really disgusted with that college kid whose roommate suggested they share an apartment with two girls. This boob said they would be mutually benefitted because the boys wouldn't have to bother with cooking or laundry, and the girls would have the "protection" of men living on the premises, plus they would all save a few bucks.

Is this guy for real? If the girls are students, they are in college to study, not to wash out some jerk's socks. Didn't this boy's Mommy ever teach him to feed himself and pick up his things? Where does he come off expecting a stranger to cook for him and do his laundry?

I hope this idiot wakes up, and soon. And if those girls know what they are getting into and still want to live with those two guys for the sake of "security," and to save a few bucks, they all deserve each other.

DISGUSTED IN L.A.

Charter Member of National Honorary Graduate Fraternity

Mrs. Joan Beckwith, assistant professor in the Business Division at Ulster County Community College, recently became one of the charter members of the Beta Mu Chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon, a national honorary graduate fraternity in professional business education. Chapter installation and charter member initiation ceremonies, took place at Central Connecticut State College, New Britain, Conn. Officers of Boston University's Epsilon Chapter of DPE, the only other chapter in New England, particpated in the ceremonies, as did Dr. Eugene Wyllie, National DPE president.

Mrs. Beckwith, a member of the founding faculty at UCCC, received her Master's degree from Central Connecticut State College in 1969. She majored in the College's Secretarial Studies graduate program, maintaining a cumulative index of 3.82 of a possible 4.0. Her Bachelor's degree was awarded in 1957 at Rider College, Trenton, N. J. She is also a graduate of the former Academy of St. Ursula.

Mrs. Beckwith and her husband, Charles, supervisor of the Foreign Language Department of the Kingston City Schools, reside with their three children, Michele (11), Catherine Mary and Mary Rose (eight year old twins), at 199 Clifton Avenue, Kingston. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. DeCicco of 39 Lipton Street.

Hutchinson Beats Senators, 97-88

Ulster Eliminated From NJCAA Tourney

OH NO YOU DON'T — Ulster's Linnell Marshall (32) attempts to block the shot of Tyrone Pryor (41) of Hutchinson Junior College in Thursday's NJCAA losers' bracket game at Hutchinson, Kansas. The host team won, 97-88, to eliminate the Senators from further competition. (UPI TELEPHOTO SPECIAL TO THE DAILY FREEMAN)

By STEVE KANE

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — "They didn't quit," said Ulster Community basketball coach Mike Perry.

His team was eliminated from the National Junior College Athletic Association tournament here Thursday night by Hutchinson Junior Coilege, 97-88, but the Senators coach had a lot to be proud of.

Hutch and Ulster stayed even for seven minutes of the contest before the Blue Dragon strength began to pull the home team ahead.

That overwhelming power up the middle and near incredible field goal percentage of 62 per cent for the game proved too much for the Super Senators. And super they were right down to the final buzzer of the 1972 season.

The odds were stacked against the UCC team from the start of the tournament, and they were never more evident than in the final game. Hutchinson's size advantage was the primary factor in the Ulster defeat. Six-foot seven-inch, 234-pound Stan Blackmon was immovable under the boards and he got plenty of help from 6-7 Tyrone Proyer and 6-4 Richard Mordsen.

They all were aided by the officials. Almost no three second violations were charged to the Blue Dragons, and that paired with the amount of contact permitted, allowed the Hutch lead to mount.

Elwyn Evans, coach of the Dutchess Community College Falcons, and acting as Perry's assistant, said. "They call them differently out here. They allowed their big men to camp out under there."

Ralph Arietta of Westchester Community thought it was a real homer. "The officiating killed them," he said. "I thought it was unfair and cost Ulster the game."

But Hutch was so hot it would have taken a lot more than whistles to beat them. Many of the Dragons' shots were bombs from 25 feet or more, and what few they missed, the front line tapped up for another try.

With Pryer and Mordson shooting from everywhere, Hutchinson roared out to a 51-36 halftime lead. Jackie Knowles was sharp in the Senator backcourt, and Coleman Link found the range for a few buckets, but Ulster couldn't penetrate the Hutch defense. Linnell Marshall and Cliff Weeks were among the Ulster starters, but even the additional height didn't have an effect.

Finding themselves in almost the same position they had put Southern Idaho in their first game, Ulster came cut fighting after the intermission.

Henry Nixon and Knowles traded baskets with the Dragons but then the Senators got shutout while Hutch ripped off nine straight. With 9:04 left in the game, some Dragon subs appeared. One was 6-6 John Terry, still too big for the Senators, and got 10 before the game ended.

At one time, Ulster trailed by 23 points. Down 87-64, Nixon jumped out of his sneakers to can a tap. Then Link came through with a free throw and two battling scores. Knowles closed it to 13 with a little over a minute left and, believe it or not, Hutch was worried.

There just wasn't enough time left on the clock however and Weeks' four points only made the score more respectable.

Pryer hit 26 for the Dragons to lead all scorers, and teammate Mordsen canned 25. Link led Ulster with 25.

There were a few lessons learned in the tournament and a few Senators who deserved special commendation.

Link emerged as a real quality ballplayer, able to hold his own with the best competition in the nation. Nixon drew nothing but praise and was a standout in both contests. Knowles and Marcelle weren't out of their class either.

And the super subs? Weeks and Gary McDonald were always tough in the clutch.

The nation's best are represented here. That leaves much to be said of an Ulster team and its coach which earned a place as an equal.

"They've been good kids," said Mike Perry, and he meant on and off the court.

Besides Region XV, this Ulster team represented Stone Ridge, New York and the East in general, whichever team comes back next year will have a tough act to follow.

* * *

The Ulster team was due back at LaGuardia Airport at 1:30 this afternoon. Coach Perry stayed in Hutchinson for the conclusion of the tourney.

A scoring spurt in the final minutes gave Ferrum, Va., a 61-60 quarter-final victory Thursday over Southern Idaho, first round conquerors of Ulster Community.

It put Ferrum against Tyler, Texas in a semi-final game Friday night. The other semi-final has No. 1 ranked Vincennes, Ind., against Gulf Coast of Panama City, Fla.

Tyler advanced with an 87-81 triumph over Seminole, Okla, but needed to erase a 16-point deficit in the second half.

Jack James scored 24 points and Jerry Ahart had 22 to lead Tyler which trailed 50-34 at the half. Ray Edwards and Greg McDougald each scored 21 for Seminole.

A late rally gave Burlington, Iowa, a 77-74 decision over Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill, n the losers' bracket.

John Moody hit 25 points for the Iowa club while Gilbert Lee scored 23 for Morris.

Burlington will meet Hutchinson in the consolation semis.

In other consolation action, Casper, Wyo., eliminated Paducah, Ky., 80-71, on the shooting of Ron Crowell with 25 and Clark Moran with 20.

Arizona Western of Yuma scored a 116-76 rout of Erie of Buffalo, N.Y. High scorer was 6-8 Calvin Murphy, who canned 25 points for Buffalo, while 6-8 Bill Hagins was contributing 21 for the winners.

Vida Says He's 'Serious'

OAKLAND (AP)—Vida Blue found it impossible to keep a straight face but swore, "I'm serious."

The 22-year-old pitching star of the Oakland Athletics announced Thursday he was leaving baseball, for a public relations job, because A's owner Charles O. Finley won't offer more than $50,000 for the coming season.

Blue called the figure, which Finley has stuck with since Jan. 8, "unfair judged by existing standards in baseball."

He and his attorney, Robert J. Gerst, want a $92,500 contract offer as a reward for Blue's great 1971 season.

The American League's Most Valuable Player, dressed in sports shirt, slacks and sneakers at the news conference here, said he would go to work for a steel products company in Los Angeles as vice president in charge of public relations.

Blue noticed some incredulous looks on the faces of reporters and photographers and cracked up laughing at that point.

But Finley, at his insurance office in Chicago, seemed to think Blue was sincere.

"I have to assume that he is," Finley said, and repeated what he had told Blue by phone Wednesday night, that $50,000 was his final offer.

Most A's players, in spring training at Mesa, Ariz., still think Blue will pitch this year.

"I think he'll come back to play. He likes to play," said outfielder Angel Mangual, who was to have been Blue's spring training roommate. "Now he's just confused."

Blue, in his first full major league season, received a $14,750 salary last year. He had a 24-8 record, a 1.82 earned run average, eight shutouts and 301 strikeouts.

The A's won the Western Division title and Blue pitched before more than a million baseball fans.

Finley gave his star pitcher from Mansfield, La., a new blue Cadillac on "Vida Blue Day" at the Oakland Coliseum.

The first postseason honor that went to Blue was the Cy Young Award, as the American League's best pitcher.

In an interview at his apartment here, the day he won that award, Blue was asked if he expected a, salary fight with Finley.

"No. I don't think we'll have any problems," said Blue, who already had arranged for Los Angeles attorney Gerst to represent him.

Finley calls his $50,000 offer the best ever made to a second-year baseball player.

"He had a great year and had a great future ahead of him. As long as he is retiring, I'm happy that he has selected the steel industry and is starting out as a vice president," said Finley, who once worked in a U.S. Steel machine shop.

Long Beach Gets Rematch

By United Press International

Long Beach State still is smarting from a 57-55 loss last year to UCLA in the NCAA Western regionals and has been intent on a rematch all year. The 49ers got their wish Thursday night as they crushed San Francisco, 75-55, after UCLA routed Weber State, 90-58, in NCAA Western regional play at Provo, Utah.

The rematch will take place Saturday as UCLA's predominantly sophomore Bruins, unbeaten in regular season play, attempt for an unprecedented sixth consecutive NCAA title.

In the Eastern regionals at Morgantown, W. Va., North Carolina humiliated South Carolina, 92-69, and will meet Penn, a 78-67 conqueror of Villanova, in the regional finals. Two upset winners will clash in the Mideast finals at Dayton, Ohio, after Kentucky stunned Marquette, 85-69, and Florida State downed Minnesota, 70-56. Louisville held off upstart Southwestern Louisiana, 88-84, and will meet Kansas State, a 66-55 victor over Texas, in the Midwest finals at Ames, Iowa. The four winners will then travel to Los Angels for the national finals next week.

All-America guard Ed Ratleff and Chuck Terry scored 16 points each as Long Beach stopped San Francisco. The 49ers' scrambling zone defense held San Francisco to just a 22 per cent shooting percentage and forced 10 steals, four by Ratleff.

"This is the game I've been thinking about all year," said Ratleff. "We've been pointing toward UCLA all season and now we'll get another shot at them."

Henry Bibby, the only senior in the Bruins' lineup, led UCLA with 16 points and Larry Farmer had 15.

North Carolina outscored archrival South Carolina, 28-11, late in the second half to turn their Eastern semifinal into a rout. George Karl led the Tar Heels with 18 points and Dennis Wuycik scored 10 of his 16 points during the first half rally.

"We just got out-everythinged," said losing Coach Frank McGuire. "It was just a bad game. They got off to a great start."

Penn, staggered last year by Villanova, 90-47, in the NCAA tourney, took out its revenge, building an early 16-point lead and then holding off a late rally. Phil Hankinson (22), Corky Calhoun (21) and Bob Morse (20) combined for 63 points to lead the Quaker attack.

Ronnie Lyons hit 19 points to pace a balanced Kentucky attack and lead the Wildcats past Marquette. Coach Al McGuire of Marquette credited foul troubles with his team's poor showing. "With Larry McNeill, Marcus Washington and Bob Lackey all in foul trouble, we had a good part of our game taken away from us."

Knicks Still Alive After Narrow Win

By United Press International

The New York Knicks are still alive in the "race" for first place in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division —just barely.

With the magic number for the Boston Celtics' clinching of the division title reduced to one, the Knicks found themselves trailing the Houston Rockets at Houston Thursday night, 102-101, with three seconds left. Then Bill Bradley hit a 20-foot jump shot to give the Knicks a 103-102 victory and one more day to hope the impossible will happen.

The Celtics can clinch the title today if they beat Philadelphia or the Knicks lose at Phoenix.

The Knicks had still another close call when a 10-foot jump shot by Calvin Murphy went into the basket but referee Jack Madden ruled it hit the cords after the final buzzer.

Bradley scored 20 points, sharing team honors with Earl Monroe, and made four key free throws in the last 92 seconds to boost the Knicks from a 97-96 lead to a 101-96 margin with 1:19 left. Elvin Hayes led the Rockets with 37 points.

Gus Johnson scored 12 of his 18-point game total in the second period as the Baltimore Bullets beat the Cleveland Cavaliers, 105-101. The Bullets, who defeated the Cavaliers for the first time after five losses this season, had an 87-73 lead after three periods, offsetting Cleveland's strong fourth period.

Archie Clark scored 24 points for the Bullets while Bobby Smith and Austin Carr had 26 points each for the Cavaliers.

Nate Thurmond scored 26 points and took down 18 rebounds to lead the Golden State Warriors to a 107-94 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers.

Giacomin Looks Good

By The Associated Press

Detroit Red Wing Coach Johnny Wilson labeled the superb goaltending of New York Rangers' Ed Giacomin as the deciding factor in the Ranger's 2-1 victory over the Wings in the National Hockey League action Thursday.

"Giacomin was at his best tonight," said Wilson. "He handled everything we could throw at him until Guy Charron slipped one by him in the closing minutes."

Giacomin lost his bid for a shutout when Charron scored his ninth goal of the season on Ron Harris' rebound with just 2:11 left to play.

The Rangers scored both of their goals just over three minutes apart in the second period. Ted Irvine accounted for the first goal at 6:20 after taking a pass from Pete Stemkowski who parlayed some deft stick handling into the eventual goal.

Then at the 9:31 mark, Vic Hadfield snapped another shot from the left side past goalie Andy Brown for what proved to be the winning goal.

Traynor Dead at 72

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Harold Joseph "Pie" Traynor, judged the greatest third baseman in the history of baseball, died Thursday.

Traynor, 72, collapsed in the apartment of a friend. Police administered oxygen in the ambulance, but he was dead on arrival at Shadyside Hospital of an apparent heart attack.

Traynor, who batted a sparkling .320 during his 18-year major league career, all with Pittsburgh, had been hospitalized for ulcers and circulatory problems in recent years.

A native New Englander who became a favorite adopted son of this city, Traynor leaves his wife, Eve. Funeral arrangements will be handled by H. Samson Funeral Home.

Traynor played third base for the Pirates for 15 full seasons, from 1922 to 1937 and parts of three others. He managed the team from 1934 to 1939.

Released as manager by the Pirates in 1939, Traynor became a Pirate broadcaster in 1946 and later was a television interviewer.

Daley's 689 Leads In KBA Tourney

NEW PALTZ

Gloria Daley's 689 gross in the Class A division dominated the single shooting in the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association championship tournament at Brunswick College Lanes.

A 159-average bowler, Gloria slammed a 593 net off lines of 201, 192, 200 to go with 96 handicap. Janet Croswell posted 662 for second place.

Elinor Burberg, the Class B champion, grossed 595 on 565 net and 30 handicap. Elnora McSpirit captured the B title on 554 gross, getting 524 in the wood and getting 30 pins handicap.

Mt. Vernon Heading For Repeat

KINGSTON

Mount Vernon continued on its path to a second straight No. 1 finish in the New York State Sportswriters Association basketball poll this week.

The downstaters upped their record to 16-1 by sweeping through Section One's tournament and beating the top-rated small school (Elmsford Hamilton) in the finals, 86-65.

Hamilton, however, held on to the No. 1 position in its class.

No school from Ulster County rated mention in the poll.

NEEDLES SHAW

Boxing Card At Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK

Sectional Golden Gloves champions, as well as local favorites, Greg 'Needles' Shaw and Danny Madison, will be featured on the amateur boxing card Saturday at 8 p.m. at Rhinebeck Central High School. Both are Adirondack area champions.

Cus D'Amato, famed professional boxing manager, and Bob Gross of Rhinebeck are assisting the Rhinebeck Chapter Order of DeMolay in the promotion of the card. There will be eight bouts in all.

Doors open at 7 p.m. and the bouts will be preceded by the showing of films of some of the most famous fights of the century. The public is invited.

Red Hook Rotary Will Host First Donkey Ball Contest

RED HOOK

Donkey Ball, one of the world's craziest sports, comes to Red Hook Saturday at 8 p.m., when the Rotary Club hosts the nationally known Buckeye Donkey Ball troupe of Columbus, Ohio.

The ball game, played from the backs of trained donkeys, makes for a rather wild and funny scene, not to mention a sharp increase in drugstore sale of liniment, bandages and splints.

Two teams, appropriately named the Rotary Jackasstronauts and the Red Hook Daredevils, will contrive to set the game of baseball back a hundred years or so.

Rotary has enlisted such 'volunteers' as Jim Caldwell, Tom Tomilson, Matt Sipperly, Nick Haddad, Chris Melley, Bob Bowman, Homer Becker and Mayor Mortimer Appel, a distinguished array of citizens covering a wide spectrum of pursuits.

Performing for the Daredevils will be Joe Picard, Dick Starkie, Manny the Barber, without his shears; John Neilson, the Red Hook High football coach; Steve Husman, Art Groves, Doug Magley and Pete McMahan.

Tickets are available from Rotary members and may be purchased at the door. The public is invited to come — and laugh.

Six Placid Awards For Nordic Team

ROSENDALE

Rosendale Nordic Ski Club junior skiers returned from the Lions-Kiwanis Nordic Meet at Lake Placid with six awards last weekend. The meet was held at the Mt. Van Hoevenberg Recreation Area — site of the recent World University Games.

The Nordics' first winner was Robert Swehla of Rosendale who placed third in jumping in his class. Mike Beyersdorfer, who placed first in Class VI Boys had his second win of the season. The first came on March 5 at Williams Lake.

Barry Strobel, the Torger Tokle champion in Class IV Boys, ran an excellent race, finishing one second behind Peter Fernette of Tupper Lake in the boys 10-11 cross country race.

Tina Wallace gave the Nordics a second place in Class VI Girls one kilometer race and Larry Ricci placed third in Class VI Boys. The Rosendale club was represented by 17 entries.

The results:

(Cross Country)

Class VI, Boys 7-under, one kilometer — 1. Mike Beyersdorfer, Rosendale; 2. Mike MacDermott, Lake Placid; 3. Larry Ricci, Rosendale.

Class VI Girls, 7-under, one kilometer — 1. Holly Pidaks, Chisholm; 2. Tina Wallace, Rosendale; 3. Sandra Stripp, Old Forge.

Class IV Boys, 10-11 — 1. Peter Fernette, Tupper Lake; 2. Barry Strobel, Rosendale.

Other Rosendale competitors were: William Bell, John Brancato, Mat Brancato, Peter Claus, Krista Kanninen, Erie Kanninen, Donna Wallace, Kathy Wallace, John Wallace, Robert Beyersdorfer and Maria Ricci.

West the Best

Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers has the best play-off scoring average in NBA history, putting in an average of 30.9 points over 120 games. West also leads in total points in play-off competition, with 3,708.

Henderson's 30 Top's Edgar Win

KINGSTON

Stan Henderson (30) and Jumpin' Joe Uhl (29) combined for 59 points to lead Edgar's to a hard-earned 88-83 victory over Mitch's Shell in the YMCA "A" Basketball League. Mitch's led 44-42 at the half.

Wilson Edmunds rimmed 21 and Gary Barnes had 16 for the losers.

Teachers Win Appeals Court Ruling

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A school board may bargain with teachers on any terms of employment not prohibited by law, the state's highest court has ruled.

The 4-3 decision of the Court of Appeals Thursday was a rebuff to the Huntington School Board on Long Island, which tried to void certain sections of a contract with Associated Teachers of Huntington, a union.

Following the decision's announcement, the New York State Teachers Association (NYSTA) declared it precedent-setting and asserted that it granted public employes a "virtual 'bill of rights.'"

The Huntington board argued that it could not bargain certain terms of employment in the absence of express legal authority to do so.

"The Board's premise is fallacious," wrote Chief Judge Stanley Fuld.

If the board's premise was true, he said, "a school board would have a hard time bargaining effectively with its teachers concerning terms of employment, since it would frequently be difficult, if not impossible, to find an express grant of power with respect to any particular subject."

At issue in the dispute were those sections in the contract involving the payment to teachers for personal property damage — eyeglasses, clothing and similar items — suffered on the job, partial reimbursement to teachers for graduate work and a salary increment during the last year of service before retirement. The last year's salary by two other judges, questioned the retirement gift feature. He said it violated existing law.

The feature provides a salary increase of up to $1,500 in the last year of service before retirement. The last year's salary is used as the base to determine pension benefits.

"With this ruling," said NYSTA President Thomas Hobart, "boards of education and other public employers will no longer be able to hide behind the cloud of 'legality' when facing tough bargaining agents who want to negotiate dismissal procedures, the length of the work day, agency fee, lighting—virtually anything that has to do with the terms and conditions of employment."

The ruling, Hobart said, clearly establishes that the Taylor Law takes precedence over all other laws when issues concerning working conditions of public employes are at stake.

"As long as a teacher association is not bargaining for something that is expressly made illegal by statute," said NYSTA general counsel Bernard Ashe, "a school board must negotiate that demand with the association."

NYSTA entered the case, which dates back to 1969, on behalf of an affiliate, the Associated Teachers of Huntington.

THE GOOD-NATURED WHISKEY

IT MIXES WELL

We take the time to gentle the taste, to make our whiskey a sip smoother than the rest. That's why Imperial is so popular. Its rich taste comes on light and goes down easy. In any drink. Even the price is good-natured.

SYMBOLIC TIGER — Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason (L) Republican candidate for State Senator in Ulster County's new 48th Senatorial District, seems pleased with the framed print of a tiger, presented him on behalf of the National Audubon Society by Charles H. Callison, executive vice president of the group. The tiger is symbolic of the 15 species and subspecies of wildlife protected by Mason's Threatened Wildlife Act which was made law in 1970.

Many Key Legislators Announce Retirements

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—After a bitter past few months and a bleak future, a record number of legislators apparently will not seek re-election this year.

One informed "guess" by a source at the Capitol says as many as 30 of the 207 senators and assemblymen will either retire, seek other jobs, or at least move up from the Assembly to the Senate this fall.

The result would let chairmanships of at least seven committees—with "lulus" ranging from $5,000 to $7,500—fall to younger men who can take the pressure of the current fiscal crisis, and the heavier workload expected of lawmakers each year.

The latest to announce retirement was Sen. Samuel L. Greenberg, D - Brooklyn, a 30-year veteran who is the ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee.

The 72 - year - old lawmaker, who takes delight in jabbing Republican budget arguments, said Thursday night "the time has come for me to step down so that I can spend more time with my wife and family."

Others who have announced retirements are Assemblymen Donald J. Mitchell, R - Herkimer; William Rosenberg, R-Rochester and Michael McCarthy, D-Buffalo, a freshman, and Sens. Anthony Gioffre, R- Port Chester, and Dalwin Niles, R-Johnstown.

None is as old as Greenberg. They explained their departures for reasons of health, personal and business considerations.

"There's going to be an amazing turnover this year," observed Assemblyman Alexander Chananau, D-Bronx, a 15-year veteran.

"The pressures are just getting to be too much. The city neighborhoods are changing, and there's a geometric increase in all the problems — housing, welfare, garbage—that we have to deal with," he said.

He also cited the increasing length of sessions, year - round committee work, and the cost and expense of waging a primary and general election campaign every two years.

A dozen years ago, most lawmakers could count on a nice, short session, free of angry taxpayer and neighborhood groups, and no primary challenges from within the party.

This year, however, reapportionment has forced a battle between two friends, Assemblymen Eli Wager, D- Woodmere, and Arthur Kremer, D - Long Beach.

Assemblywoman Constance E. Cook, R-Ithaca, the Assembly Education Committee chairman, is seeking the Republican nomination to be the first woman judge on the state Court of Appeals.

Assemblymen Raymond Lill, D-Rochester, and Frank Rossetti, D - Manhattan, are reported considering retirement.

In other categories:

—Running for Congress: Assemblyman Banjamin A. Gilman, R-Middletown; John T. Buckley, R-Utica; and, possibly, Neil W. Kelleher, R-Troy, and Manuel Ramos, D-Bronx.

—Running for state Senate: Assemblymen Edwyn E. Mason, R - Hobart; James T. McFarland, R - Kenmore; Joseph R. Pisani, R-New Rochelle, Frederick L. Warder, R - Geneva; and Stephen S. Gottlieb, D-Manhattan. Assemblywoman Mary Ann Krupsak, D - Amsterdam, may run for Niles' seat.

Speculation in Vancouver Over Hughes' Surprise Visit

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Howard Hughes' surprise visit to Vancouver sparked speculation today the billionaire industrialist may be interested in a city firm producing short take-off and landing (STOL) aircraft.

Hughes set up headquarters in a $4,200-a-week suite at the Bayshore Inn Tuesday after a flight from Managua, Nicaragua. The security force surrounding the Hughes' party was said to be larger than that afforded Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau on his visits here.

The arrival of Hughes, accompanied by about 15 aides, put this West Coast city in a high state of excitement.

A local radio station asked listeners to state why they thought the billionaire was in Vancouver. The answers ranged from possible interest in the Vancouver Canucks hockey club to a romantic interest in Bobbie Gentry, who is performing in a local nightspot.

Most speculation however, centered on his possible interest in a STOL aircraft being produced by a suburban Vancouver firm, Dominion Aircraft Corp.

Company spokesmen declined comment, but it was known the company had booked two rooms at the Bayshore Inn on the floor immediately under the 24 suites rented by Hughes on the two top floors.

The firm is seeking Canadian government financial backing for the production of the aircraft. One company spokesman said if no government aid is forthcoming, the firm "will negotiate with a large American firm which is willing to sign today."

The head of Dominion Aircraft, Larry Matansky, met Thursday in Ottawa with officials of the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce.

Government sources said the department was considering Matansky's request for federal funds but would certainly not be "blackmailed" by his threat to seek financial backing elsewhere.

Welfare Drops Woman

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (UPI)—The mother of three dying children, who was given an eviction notice before Christmas, was dropped from the welfare rolls Thursday because of the generosity of persons touched by her tragic story.

"I was shocked," said Jacqueline Collum, 34, a divorcee whose children, ages 12, 7 and 7, have the incurable Batten's Disease. One daughter, Patty, 13, died in her arms last year.

More than $24,000 was received by Mrs. Collum from persons sympathizing with her plight. However, the money is in a trust fund for her children's needs and Mrs. Collum would like it to be preserved "in case a cure is ever found."

She received the news by mail that her welfare grant would end March 31 because of "excess personal property"

Youth-In-Government Proposal

KINGSTON

Ulster County's 1972 Youth-In-Government project will be continued on a year round basis, if a proposal made by Robert Kirkpatrick student chairman of the Ulster County Youth-In-Government Legislature gets the approval of the adult members of the county Board.

In the proposal, made at a recent meeting of the County Legislature, Kirkpatrick emphasized that the students were asking for no monetary assistance whatsoever but was merely asking for the use of the Legislative chambers four to six times a year. He said that any funds needed for the Youth-In-Government undertakings would be raised by its student members.

The continued existence of the program throughout the year received unanimous approval of the student legislature at its Feb. 17 meeting. Kirkpatrick explained that a similar extended project has been successful in Dutchess County.

The purpose of the Ulster County student legislator's effort will be to undertake programs concerning students. It is proposed that a committee be formed to provide information about voter registration for those students in Ulster County schools who should be voting for the first time this fall.

Kirkpatrick said that he will soon be calling together a committee of youth legislators to act as a steering committee until the group is firmly established in the year around program. He said he would provide written reports of all meetings and activities for the County Board.

The young chairman extended the student's appreciation to the Legislature and in particular to S. Robert Kelder (R-Dist. 2), chairman of the Youth and Recreation Committee for providing "an interesting experience."

Paltz Drug Speaker Gives the Facts

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

Dr. Jeffery Wiersum brought the 50 plus people who attended the Drug Awareness Workshop in the New Paltz Middle School Thursday night up to date on what drugs are available in New Paltz and the operations of the Ulster County methadone program.

According to Wiersum, the drugs are plentiful and of high quality, and the methadone program is on thin financial ice, but getting by.

Wiersum heads the Ulster County methadone program, is the physician at the State University College at New Paltz, and is a member of the New Paltz Medical Associates who are the physicians for the New Paltz Schools. The workshop was sponsored by the schools as part of the drug education program headed by Richard Stanulwich.

The available drugs in New Paltz are of better quality than in recent years, and easy to get, said Wiersum. Heroin is easy to come by, and of unusually high quality. The LSD is a better grade, not laced with as many dangerous additives or cut as much as in past years. A pure brand of MDA, a speed-type drug with marked hallucinogenic properties is on the market. The much publicized and dangerous Sopors are still around; combined with a "fair amount" of alcohol, Sopors can kill, and the letter of caution sent to parents in the school district still stands, said Wiersum. Marijuana is more available, of better quality, and the "grow your own" movement is subsiding. Cocaine is on the streets. So is methadone.

New Paltz is still the drug distribution center for an area extending from Rockland and Westchester Counties to the south as far north as near Ablany, Wiersum said.

You can still get whatever you want in New Paltz, said Wiersum. "If the first one you ask doesn't have it, the next one will," he said.

On the plus side, drug use among school-aged children in New Paltz is down from recent years, he said. He thinks the drug education program in the schools, and the frightening example of addicted friends has cooled the drug ardor of many of New Paltz' youths.

The higher quality of drugs available has a good point. Dangerous additives aren't in the drugs, and the possiblity of a bad trip is reduced. However, the possiblity of an overdose is greatly increased. And better quality heroin has reduced particiation in the methadone program.

Wiersum said there were presently 74 addicts being treated in the county methadone program, down from a hundred "a couple of months ago." A heroin addict generally prefers to stay on heroin if he can afford it, Wiersum explained, and with the better quality heroin he can get more for his money, often enough to maintain his habit.

The methadone program got $36,000 from the Ulster County Legislature for its first three months of operation. When that is gone, the program will have to rely on the $10 a week fees from job-holding addicts and Medicaid payments for the non-job holders.

Wiersum said he thought it would be enough to "keep the program alive."

The 74 addicts on county methadone is just "the tip of the iceberg", said Wiersum. He estimated the number of heroin addicts in Ulster County to be 1,500 to 2,000.

Keeping kids off drugs is mainly a matter of example, according to the doctor. When the children see a "habituated parent", and he was referring to parents who smoke, drink too much, or turn to the medicine chest to solve every difficulty, it's tough to tell them not to use drugs.

Pacesetters Have Speaker

Dr. Marnin Feinstein, author of "American Zionism, 1884-1904" and Associate Professor of Hebrew at City College in New York, will be the guest speaker at the Pacesetters' Meeting of the Kingston United Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign on Sunday, March 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Weinberger, Alfred Rose, campaign chairman, has made known.

Dr. Feinstein is Director of the Jewish Studies at City College and former Dean of Herzliah Hebrew Teachers Institute in New York.

Professor Feinstein, Associate Professor Classical Languages, Comparative Literature and the Humanities, has visited Israel on many occasions. He spent a year studying at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem on a scholarship awarded by the Zionist Organization of America. As a result of his frequent visits to Israel, he possesses an intimate knowledge of her immigrants, the absorption problems resulting from years of continuous heavy immigration, and of the operations of U.J.A.-supported agencies which must meet these problems.

Born in New York City, Dr. Feinstein received his Hebrew Teacher Diploma from Herzliah Institute there in 1942 and later served that Institute as Registrar and Dean until 1962. He received his B.A. from Brooklyn College and his Master's and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University, specializing in Jewish History and Hebrew literature.

Dr. Feinstein has produced a vast body of texts and scholarly works. Two full length Hebrew dramas, "The Green Passport" and "The Noose Tightens," were produced in New York and widely reviewed in the Hebrew, Anglo-Jewish and general American Press. He also wrote "Jotapata 67," an historical drama based on the life of Joseph Flavius.

The U.J.A. to meet health, education and welfare needs in post-war Israel and in 30 other countries of the world, continues the Emergency Fund which was launched in June, 1967 on behalf of Israel's people and the regular annual campaign to finance the vast welfare, medical, reconstruction and immigration programs that are conducted on behalf of 850,000 destitute Jewish men, women and children throughout the world. Emphasis of this year's campaign is on the need for funds to expedite the surprising numbers now being being permitted to leave Russia, and for their resettlement in Israel.

Community Effort Aids Legislator

KINGSTON — A community effort to aid County Legislator Lewis C. Kirschner and his wife Amy, establish their new delicatessen-restaurant business at 291 Wall Street, Kingston is underway under the direction of Dr. Elmer McKay.

The assistance will come in the form of manpower being donated by among others, Mayor Francis R. Koenig, Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Alderman-at-large T. Robert Gallo and Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) who will donate their time to serve as cook, bus boy, cashier, waiters and dishwashers on Saturday, April 8, the opening day of the new business.

The Kirschners are opening the delicatessen and catering service after having lost their Port Ewen delicatessen establishment in a fire several months ago.

Dr. McKay asks that friends of the Kirschners give them a "grand sendoff. Can you think of anyone who deserves it more?" he asks.

Volunteers to man the store on opening day will work in two hour shifts with seven persons on duty at a time.

Friends of Kirschners are asked to drop in the

Ulster GOPs Schedule Meeting

TOWN OF ULSTER — The Town of Ulster Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, March 23 at 8 p.m. at the Kingston Savings Bank, Ulster Avenue Mall, Lake Katrine.

Mrs. Shirley Kobran, of the Town of Ulster, will talk on the subject Environment in Politics Today. Mrs. Kobran has been extremely active throughout the area with environmental and ecological projects, and has done outstanding work with groups in recycling of glass and paper.

Anthony Cicoria president advises that the club's property on lower Esopus Avenue, Town of Ulster, is for sale. Sealed bids for the acreage may be submitted, in accordance with the terms of published notices, by mailing not later than midnight, March 20, to Town of Ulster Republican Club, PO Box 219, Lake Katrine. Bids will be opened at the March 23 meeting. Further information may be obtained by contacting Cicoria.

Spring dance chairman, Fred Wadnola Jr., notes that plans are being finalized for this annual event, which will be held at the Flamingo Restaurant May 20.

ERNESTLY SPEAKING

THERE'S STILL TIME to celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a bit of a dinner, a bit of the Blarney, and a bit of Killarney, too. Erin did a lot of gae-ing bragh around these parts last night, but we still believe in celebrating St. Patrick's Day on March 17th. So if you didn't happen to celebrate yesterday, come around to Roberto's tonight, and join the fun. There'll be music and song, along with the Val Fury Trio . . . with dancing in the main Dining Room from 8 p. m.

In addition to the regular menu, at regular prices, there's the Shamrock Special . .. Corned Beef and Cabbage; there will be hats and noisemakers and novelties, and every Irish tune that's played will be "come all ye," for you to join in.

Faugh a ballagh . . . from 5 p. m. to the wee small hours; and may you meet a leprechaun on your way home!

SCENE AT ROBERTO'S .. Barbara and Joe Thomas hosted Claudia and Tom Czelatal (Kingstonians all) at Dinner, to celebrate Barbara's birthday. I'm still trying to figure out Joe's comment: "Age 21, if you may." If we may what . . . be so ungallant as to disbelieve the figure? Not by a long shot;  At another Birthday Dinner, Mr. and Mrs. John Banach, of Tillson, hosted Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gelardi, of Hopewell Junction, N. Y., on the occasion of Mr. Gelardi's birthday. Comment: "Our guests agreed your food is superb . . . going on a diet next week."

Bob (Stump)y Tremper, of Port Ewen, reported on the dinner which he labelled "Department Party for Bob Roe for his First Appearance." He didn't specify the Department, nor what the Appearance was for; but the party consisted of Marie and Bob Gardinier, of Kingston; Greta and Al Port, of Sawkill Road; Eileen and Bob Roe, of Hurley Ridge; and Mary and Bob Tremper. Bob's interim report: "Having one helluva good time with our friends and drunken neighbors. Maude Frickette is here with long dress and beautiful hairdo." We looked for Maude, but didn't see any more of her than we saw of that white rabbit in "Harvey."

Then there was the 25th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Weiner, of Kingston. Among those pleasant were Mrs. Richard Busch, Mrs. Herbert Farber, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Schechter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shienvold, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Weiner, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Weiner, Miss Ellen Weiner, Miss Francine Weiner, Mrs. Casper Zelickman, Mr. Robert Zweben, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Zwilling. I noted the entry: "Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Nixon stopped by to extend good wishes" . . . but I put that in the same class category as Bob Tremper's report on Maude Frickette.

Then there was the ubiquitous James Turck, first with Jean and Steve Baran, of Saugerties and Cora and Bob Martin of Kingston. Then, on Saturday, came the "Dep't. Party to celebrate recent promotion of Jim Turck and Larry Diehl." That's about as informative as the aforementioned "Dep't. Farty for Bob Roe." The party (in addition to The Turck) consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Diehl, of Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dittus, of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. William Herzog, of Lake Katrine; Mr. and Mrs. Al Studt, of Shokan; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vartanesion, of Woodstock . . . and the report was that "A good time was had by all."

MISH AND MASH

Week after week, I'm happier and happier to report that more and more folks are finding Luncheon pleasanter and pleasanter at Roberto's. The old philosopher had it right when he wrote to the effect that: "Build a Better Luncheon, and the world will eat a path to your door." I don't know about the world, but residents of the surrounding environs are finding the way to Legion Court, in Port Ewen, for a pleasant noontime interlude. No wonder, with such nice atmosphere, such sincere service, such excellent Luncheon Specialties for as little as $1.75; Luncheon at Roberto's . . . try it . . . you'll like it!

All the Presidential Primaries going on these days remind me of the old-time "typewriter sentence" . . . Now Is The Time For All Good Men To Come To The Aid Of The Party. Only, it should read: "Now is the time to let Roberto's come to the aid of your party." Whether it's a Luncheon Party for Ten, or a Dinner Party for a Hundred . . . Roberto's gives you more and better cuisine and service for your money; all it takes to prove that is to compare our Menu and Price against any other Menu and Price. Nobody . . . but Nobody . . . gives you the same dollar's-worth of Party; if you aren't willing to settle for less than the best . . . you'll call me, or drop around and see what we can do to aid your Party.

Mezan and Flotteron have previously been found by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency to be qualified and financially responsible to purchase and develop Disposition Parcel 8. The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has, in accordance with its established rules and procedures, duly designated Mezan and Flotteron as qualified and eligible redevelopers of Disposition Parcel 8, and the Common Council of the City of Kingston has approved Mezan and Flotteron as qualified and eligible redevelopers.

The price to be paid by Mezan and Flotteron for Disposition Parcel 8 is $25,000.00.

The essential terms of the Disposition Agreement to be executed by and between the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and Mezan and Flotteron are that Mezan and Flotteron are to deliver to the Agency prior to or simultaneously with the execution of the Disposition Agreement a good faith deposit of $2,500.00 as security for the performance of their obligations under the Disposition Agreement; to pay $25,000.00 simultaneously with the delivery of the Deed; to submit Construction Plans for the improvements to be constructed within two (2) months from the date of the Disposition Agreement; to submit satisfactory evidence of equity capital and commitments for mortgage financing necessary for the construction of the improvements within thirty (30) days after the date of approval of the Construction Plans; to take title to Disposition Parcel 8 within sixty (60) days after the date of approval of the Construction Plans, or on June 15, 1972, whichever date is later; to commence construction of the improvements within thirty (30) days after the date of the Deed; and to complete construction within twelve (12) months after the date of the Deed.

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency proposes to enter into the Disposition Agreement with Mezan and Flotteron on or after March 27, 1972.

The Disposition Agreement will be available for public examination at the office of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, 436 Broadway, Kingston, New York for a period of ten (10) days, commencing March 14, 1972 and terminating March 27, 1972, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The Broadway East Urban Renewal Project, NY R-107 is generally located between Lawrence Street and Delaware Avenue to the north, Hasbrouck Park to the east, Rondout Creek to the South, and Broadway and Livingston Street to the west, in the Rondout section of the City of Kingston.

Dated: March 14, 1972.

WHY WE SAY

TRUE BLUE

FLOWERS: European peasants carried a small blue bachelor's button in their pockets for a period of 24 hours. If, according to the superstition, upon being taken from the pocket it was still "true blue," their fiancee would be loyal in marriage. True blue still signifies loyalty.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

KISS BLANK: (Q.) I've kissed only a few boys, but enough to know I dislike kissing. I do kiss my boy friend. He loves me and I love him. It gives him pleasure

But what am I supposed to get out of it? How is it supposed to make me feel? Good? Well, it doesn't, and I may have to give up boys.

I am 14½ and my friends tell me that I am mature for my age. — Not Fun in Louisiana

(A.) Maturity arrives at different times in different parts of our lives. You may be far along intellectually and physically, but not ready emotionally for kissing and the deep rewards it offers when it is willingly shared.

Please do not be discouraged about your present feeling. At your age you should not be in too much of a hurry. Many girls your age have never keen kissed by a boy. I am confident that in the future (it may be a year or two) there will be someone you can and will respond to

I do not believe, in the meantime, that it is a good idea to try to give your friend pleasure by kissing him when you really don't want to.

RINSE: (Q.) I have been told that after a shampoo a quick rinse of cold water is good for your hair. Is this true? Or would it be harmful? — Long-Haired Girl in Maryland.

(A.) A cool rinse is fine at the end of a shampoo if you like it. If it makes you uncomfortable, warmer water is perfectly all right.

This goes for boys as well as girls.

TV 'Wizard' Enjoys Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Gregg Morris, "Mission: Impossible's" electronics wizard since its beginnings six years ago, returned to the East Coast the other day for a short visit before returning to his screw drivers and wire snippers for a seventh year of trapping villains.

Gregg has found his role of Barney Collier opening all sorts of show business doors which are closed to newcomers. He has played more than 30 roles in films and guest shots on other TV series and even turned out a record album.

"But I seem to be turned on by kids," he said. "The thing I really enjoy is working with them and for them."

Married and with three youngsters of his own ranging from 10 to 15, Morris is forever cutting out of Hollywood for cerebral palsy telethons, hospital visits or trips to schools—preferably in deprived sections, to sit down for rap sessions with student.

Some of his concern for young people probably stems from his own peripatetic upbringing. Born in Cleveland, he lost his father when he was young, and traveled around the country as his mother's jobs changed. He lived in New York's Harlem, Poughkeepsie, went back to Cleveland. He says that as a lonely 15-year-old he was introspective and even then beginning to live by a code of what he calls "introspective egoism"—belief in himself.

"I heard a man named Emmett Fox say 'God is within me and therefore I am,'" Morris explained. "It was one of those things that instantly made complete sense and it changed everything for me. After that I always believed that somewhere there would be success for me."

A handsome, tall man, Morris also knows that luck has played a part in his success as a performer. After working his way through Ohio State and the University of Iowa, he got a part in a West Coast company of "A Raisin in the Sun." He hit Hollywood in 1961 and never left. It was the beginning of the period when a black actor could hope to make a living at his craft.

"I've done well," he said. "Now I feel I can help pass some of it on."

"The Flip Wilson Show" wound up its second NBC season on a happy note. With Tim Conway—who brightens with his talent every variety show guest shot—as an aide, Flip mounted a particularly amusing sketch showing the President of the United States stewing over his income tax return.

Singleton 8 Cues 3 N.T.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South took a very jaundiced look at that six-of-diamonds lead. He could live happily with any other opening. East put up the ace and returned the deuce and left South with the problem of finding eight tricks before giving up the lead.

Four clubs were easy and so were three spades. Four spades wodul come right in if the jack would drop but East had opened the bidding with one spade and almost surely had five or six for the bid.

Could West actually hold the singleton jack? Possible, but unlikely. Was there any other way to score four spade tricks? An end play? Wouldn't work. There was no way to get to the end of the hand without letting the diamonds parade home.

Finally, South saw there was a way to make his contract. If West's singleton spade were the eight or nine he could handle East's case. South was going to look idiotic if Wset's singleton were the jack but South didn't care about his charisma, just his bid.

South led a club to dummy and played dummy's 10 of spades. East covered with the jack. West dropped the eight and now South was in clover.

Back to dummy with a second club to lead a low spade. East played low and South put in the seven-spot. It held and he had his four spade tricks.

Committee Hears ITT Destroy Material Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within a day of learning that columnist Jack Anderson had a private ITT memo in his possession, International Telephone & Telegraph mobilized its full Washington staff to destroy all documents that might be "misused or misconstrued" by Anderson.

On Feb. 24, an Anderson associate, Brit Hume, appeared at ITT's Washington office with a memorandum written by Dita D. Beard, an ITT lobbyist.

The next morning, W. R. Merriam, head of the office, told the staff of 25 there was a possibility of theft and that they were to check to see if any documents were missing.

"At the same time they were told to remove any documents that were no longer needed for current operations as well as documents which, if put into Mr. Anderson's possession, could be misused or misconstrued by him so as to cause unwarranted embarrassment to the people mentioned therein," the Senate Judiciary Committee was told Thursday.

Howard J. Aibel, ITT senior vice president and general counsel, said that after the meeting staff members and their secretaries reviewed their files and disposed of what he called unneeded documents, most of them old and outdated materials.

Most of the material was disposed of in a shredding machine.

Five days later, Anderson published a column based on the Beard memo which he said linked ITT's pledge to help underwrite the Republican National Convention with the settlement of three antitrust suits against ITT.

Hume testified last week that Mrs. Beard told him some of the material put through the shredder dealt with the subject under investigation by the committee. ITT officials have denied it.

Aibel told the committee that ITT officials did not know exactly what material was destroyed but it consisted mainly of old speeches, press releases and clippings, old correspondence current with issues in 1962 and 1963 and brochures dealing with hotels in San Diego.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., told the ITT official: "Do you know how incriminating this looks on its face? Hume comes in with a memorandum and the next day huge amounts of documents are thrown into a shredder."

Aibel: "But senator, if they had no use . . ."

Tunney: "No use? They would have been of use to this committee in determining if the destroyed material had a bearing on this matter."

The special hearings were convened after acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst asked the committee for an opportunity to answer Anderson's suggestions of impropriety by Justice Department officials in the ITT settlement.

Kleindienst's nomination to succeed John N. Mitchell, who resigned March 1 to head President Nixon's re-election campaign, was approved by the committee 13 to 0 but action by the full Senate has been delayed because of the hearings.

U.S. Army Helicopter Crashes

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. Army helicopter with 11 men aboard crashed today into a river northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. command said the body of one American was recovered and the 10 other GIs were listed as missing.

The command said the UH1 Huey chopper "crashed from unknown causes" and sank into the Dong Nai River, 21 miles from Saigon.

The command said that the Communist groundfire ripped into another UH1 chopper today 100 miles east of Saigon, wounding two Americans.

The command said that helicopter, supporting South Vietnamese ground troops near the town of Phan Thiet, was hit by small arms fire but received only minor damage.

The U.S. command also announced two other air mishaps involving fixed-wing aircraft that occurred earlier this week over Laos.

On Sunday, an Air Force F105 went down for unknown reasons during a combat mission over Laos. One crewman was injured, one was unhurt. Both were pulled out of the jungle by USAF rescue helicopters.

On Tuesday, an OV10 observation plane went down, also from unknown causes, while reconnoitering. The pilot, who was the only man aboard, was reported missing.

In Thursday's action U.S. and South Vietnamese planes struck at Communist gunsites, convoys and suspected emplacements, stepping up the air war to keep pace with the heaviest ground action in five months.

U.S. jets attacked a Communist antiaircraft site 36 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) near the Ben Kari Pass, marking the 96th "protective reaction" strike into North Vietnam so far this year.

In the southern part of the country, six South Vietnamese A1 Skyraider propeller-driven craft and six A37 Dragonfly jets attacked a 15-vehicle Communist convoy in the Central Highlands, destroying six tanks and eight trucks.

Eleven waves of Thailand-based B52 bombers hit suspected Communist storage areas, infiltration routes and base camps in South Vietnam with at least 990 tons of high explosives.

On the ground, the South Vietnamese command reported 42 assaults during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. Thursday—the largest number of attacks since the South Vietnamese presidential elections Oct. 3.

South Vietnamese sources said allied ground attacks and air strikes killed 258 Communists.

The convoy attacked by the South Vietnamese planes was located near Base Area 609—a Communist stronghold near the juncture of the Laotian, Cambodian and South Vietnamese borders.

Market Issue Upsets Britain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some French commentators view President Georges Pompidou's call for a referendum on expansion of the Common Market as the prelude to a final break with Charles de Gaulle's anti-American foreign policy. But the British government is upset because it gives new ammunition to British opponents of their island's move into Europe.

What has happened to the entente cordiale De Gaulle's successor was supposed to have renewed, the British were asking. But French observers anticipate a strong "yes" vote in the referendum April 30 or May 7 and said this would seal the revival of close alliance between France and London.

Pompidou in his surprise announcement at the end of a news conference Thursday did not spell out in detail the question to be asked the French voters. But he will seek their approval of the expansion of the European Economic Community to include Britain, Norway, Denmark and Ireland, all scheduled to join at the end of the year.

Observers in Paris saw these main objectives for Pompidou's decision:

In the tradition established by De Gaulle in five referenda, it will be a personal plebescite on the president's achievements and policies and probably the prelude to parliamentary elections this year. He would not call the vote if there was any danger of defeat.

It will cut the ground from under Pompidou's opponents in the right wing of the Gaullist party, the hardline sharers of the late president's distrust of any European integration that diminishes France's position. Pompidou will be free to follow his own European policies with a direct mandate from the people.

It will sow dissension in the already fragmented left wing of French politics. Specifically it will hit attempts to form an electoral alliance between the Communists, who oppose the Common Market as the creature of "cartels, trusts and international pressure groups," and the Socialists who advocate European unity.

A direct mandate will also allow Pompidou to go to the fall summit meeting of the expanded Common Market in a strong position to push the policies of political and monetary integration he advocates.

But Pompidou made a major diplomatic blunder. He did not inform British Prime Minister Edward Heath in advance, and some of Heath's senior cabinet ministers termed the announcement a "diplomatic bombshell."

The British government reacted to the official position that the referendum was entirely a French domestic matter. But some officials pointed out that Pompidou's failure to warn Heath what was coming appeared to contradict the view Heath has often expressed—that the essence of friendship and alliance within a Greater Europe is mutual frankness.

Commission Files Abortion Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a report certain to stir bitter debate, a presidential commsson recommends abortion on request and contraceptive services to minors as ways to halt America's population growth.

The commission, which set out the need for stabilizing growth in the first of a three-part report issued last week, said public and private health services should assume all costs connected with fertility.

It would mean an outlay of up to $8.1 billion a year, the commission said, to pay for contraceptives; for prenatal, delivery and first-year pediatric care; for voluntary sterilization, abortion and medical treatment of infertility. All but $1 billion of this cost is now borne by public and private agencies, the commission said.

Criticism of the report came quickly, particularly its recommendation that "women should be free to determine their own fertility, that the matter of abortion should be left to the conscience of the individual concerned, in consultation with her physician and that states should be encouraged to enact affirmative statutes creating a clear and positive framework for the practice of abortion on request."

Msgr. James T. McHugh of the United States Catholic Conference said the "preoccupation with finding an effective way to eliminate the unwanted child has led the commission . . . into an ideological valley of death."

The four Catholic members of the 24-member commission and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., dissented from the section on abortion.

The commission was established by Congress two years ago on request of President Nixon to study Population and the American Future." Its chairman, John D. Rockefeller III, said the commision recognizes and would stress that many of its recommendations seek to achieve social goals desirable and important in their own right—for example, greater opportunities for women and children and freedom of choice in reproduction."

The report placed emphasis on creating social conditions wherein the desired values of individuals, families and communities can be realized."

Murder Charge Is Dismissed

SCHENECTADY,N.Y.(AP) — The trial of Clifford "Wimpy" Johnson, who was charged with murder for the alleged sale of heroin to a girl who died of an overdose, fizzled into a routine drug case Thursday when a key witness withdrew earlier testimony.

Schenectady County Judge Archibald Wemple dismissed the murder charge after 17-year-old Susan Kowalxzyk of Schenectady, a classmate of the dead girl, contradicted her earlier grand jury testimony and said she could not be sure Johnson was the man who sold the fatal dose of heroin.

The testimony last October of Miss Kowlaxzyk was the basis for the rare murder indictment against Johnson, officials said.

The body of the victim, 17-year-old Deborah Dalonzo of Schenectady, was found in a parking lot here last Oct. 8.

Before Thursday's hearing, the trial had precedent-setting potential. It was believed to have been the first time an alleged drug pusher was charged with murder in an overdose death.

Johnson now faces only charges of criminal possession and sale of narcotics.
